A CATASTROPHE AVERTED

Three Five Story Brick Tenements Tumble Down.

LIVES LOST.

Providential Escape of the Inmates.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

four stories in height, situated on East Twenty-third street, near First avenue, crumbled and fell with a remendous crash at nine o'clock last night but fortunately no person was injured, so far, at east, as learned up the hour of going A few hours later and the twenty-odd families sheltered within the treacherous walls would all or nearly all have been summoned to eternity. Owing earliness of the hour only few were in A bulging wall attracted the attention of one of the inmates, and he gave the alarm. The situation of the doomed buildings was fortunate. Within two blocks of the tion house on one side and a shorter distance from engine house on the other, effective aid was prompt oming. The action of Police Captain Allaire, of the sheenth precipet, is deserving of the highest praise. dangerous buildings of all their occupants, and when the work was completed he rigorously kept from without the paie of danger many who to save their proprty were eager in their blindness to rush into the

For fully sixty minutes the police stood guard, driving back the ever-increas-throngs, closing their ears to pitcous is from the late occupants to be allowed to save his or that valuable, expostulating with some, using force with others, but keeping uppermost in miad broughout the knowledge that every moment might ome down the tottering monument of prick, bringing re destruction to all within its deadly reach.

The firemen, too, under the command of Chief lates, were scarcely less active in their efforts to preess of life. Their long experience made it clear hat the techie walls were as the pulsations of the ant's warning to fall headlong to the street. The excitement continued on the increase. With each fresh gust of wind the spectators fancied that the heavy walls swayed, now toppling like the leaning tower of Plza, now assuming the perpendicular, and again shivering as if in the final throes of dissolution. At last it came.

THE CRASH.

Shouts from a thousand excited throats mingled with the gigantic crash only to be drowned therein. The buildings were no more. A heap of ruins, a skeleton floor work and furniture of all descriptions, internixed with brick, mortar and debris, marked the spot. The people drew a sigh of relief, and the suspense was ever.

The people drew a sight of reliet, and the suspense was over.

The first intimation of the impending catastrophe was had by Henry Walsh, who kept a liquor store on the first floor of No. 542. He was waiting on his customers, when he suddenly heard a low cracking noise in the back room, followed almost immediately by a crush. It was differen minutes past seven F. M., kr. Walsh awing noticed the time a moment before. If any if noed from the piece swaying first above it the wall began to crack different and the first the stability of the noise at once concluded that an interest the first and without delay be sent word to Captain Allaire in the Twenty-accord street station house. The Captain appreciated the peril of the immates of the threateded tenements, and the reserves were at once ordinates and the reserves were at once issued to hurry the inmusts into the streets and not to allow them to remain a moment under any consideration. These instructions were literally carried out, and from their rooms the frightness occase, the attempt to carry off their little valuables many forgot the peril their lives wege in, Some two or three auceceeded in collecting a pertion of their household goods, but were forced to abandon them and in a short time the occapants of the doorned any one's returning to the building, and this was steeded with no little effects they could. Of coourse the poince were succeeded in collecting a pertion of their household goods, but were loreed to abandon them and in a short time the occapants of the doorned houses were clustered in the street, with not an article saved from run but the clothes they were. The next precautien taken was to post men to prevent any one's returning to the building, and this was steeded with one itself and this many appreciated the prevent of the prevent any one's returning to the building, and their rooms to receive the prevent of the pr what little effects they could. Of course the poince were wisely obdurate, and refused to be prevailed upon and the ejected groups scattered in a little while to the houses of their neighbors to await the expected ruin of their homes. In the cenfusion of removing the people from the honses some two or three evaded the police, but these managed to make an exit through the roof in time to save themselves. A crowd meantime had gathered on the street and awaited the anticipated crash. It was not long delayed. The line of the roof seemed broken for a moment, the front wall swayed and bulged outward and then windows, masoury and all mingled and fell with a terrific crash to the ground. There was a hurried scampering of people from the street, and then, after a minute's space, there was a still more mightly din as the entire rear portion of the building tumbled into the windows, the whole of the front wall of Nos. 342 and 344 and a portion of the roof and upper masoury of No. 346 had failen with the first crash and the shattered interior of the building was exposed. The party-wall had sunk down and the beams and flooring were resting obliquely upon it with the furniture gathered in confused masses upon them. Every stricle seemed shattered and the reilings and woodwork were all in fragments. In the roar of the building the distribution was still greater. Here floors and all had tumbled down, and a huge hill of brek and shattered beams was all that had been left of the structure. The ruin bere bad been immediate and complete.

greater. Here floors and shitstered beams was all that had been leit of the structure. The ruin nere had been immediate and complete.

**PANGER OF FIRE.**

At first it was feared that some of the overturned stoves in the lailen houses might set the ruined woodwork in flames. A fireman, in mounting to the roof of No. 346, found an old women there, who had climbed through the scuttle of the adjoining house, and who seemed delirious with fright. It was learned, too, that Officer Raymond and a young man named Hanly had a narrow escape, being only able to leap from the ruined house at the moment of its fall.

THE CAUSE OF THE DIRASTER.

The statements made by the unhappy tenants last night show that somebody is very mach to blame for the catastrophe. It appears that the row of five story brick tenements, of which the fallen buildings were a part, were erected some twenty-six years ago, and that about eight years since the very walls which hast night gave way showed a strong disposition to tumble in. Braces were placed under the floors and the walls were propped in some way, so that the disaster was deferred. From the appearance of the front walls before they crumbled it would seem that still more recently they had been strongthened by placing iron "anchors" and "stars" in them. Last winter the cellars were flooded almost constantly, and many compaints were made by the tenants to the agent, one Crevier, in West Broudway, near Canal street. Who the owner is the tenants do not know; but it is understood that the building belongs to Mr. Henry Hand, of Hoboken, N. J. No notice was taken of these complaints and the water was shlowed to flow in and find an outlet under the foundations. It is believed that the disaster may be traced directly to that cause. The water, indung its way into the crevices of the walls, was frozen when the temperature became lower and, swelling in volume in the freezing process, split the masonry and initiated the process of disintegration which culminated last night in the downiall of the structu

Several families, who had been made homeless by the falling of the houses, applied for indigning at the East Twesty-second street station house, and were secommodated.

MORMON JUSTICE.

PLOT OF THE LATTER DAY SAINTS' LEADERS TO PUBLISH FALSE EVIDENCE ABOUT THE ASSAULTS ON THE HERALD CORRESPONDENT. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.]

Salt Lake, Utah, June 16, 1877. Some idea of Mormon tactics may be obtained from the course pursued by the Mayor of Salt Lake City in respect to the proceedings had and the testi-mony taken in regard to the recent two at-Mayor, who is a nephew of Brigham Young, and who, like every other city officer or person employed in the service of the city, is a Mormon, subject to the Prophet's will, presided over the inquipurpose of this inquisition being to try the injured party, his train the Mormon City Attorney and a stenographic reporter who is Brigham Young's own private secretary, no other stenographer in the city being disengaged. The Gentiles present, including your attorney, preferred to accept Brigham Young's man's services rather than appear to seek the least delay. It was, however, stipulated and promised by the Mayorsecond, that the stenographer's report should be ready within a week; third, that report should then be submitted to your correspondent for correction before publication. Since then three applications have been had decided to suppress it. They preferred to adopt this method, and let the mendacious statements of the Mormon press here in regard to this affair penetrate in advance through the country.

A LETTER TO THE MAYOR.

Yesterday, therefore, your correspondent addressed to the Mayor the following note and sent it to him by a courteous messenger:

WALEER HOUSE, June 14, 1877.

A courteous messenger:

WALEYR HOUSE, June 14, 1877.

HOO. FERAMORE LITTLE:

SIE—On the let inst. I consented to appear at a meeting in the pasters of the Walker House, over which you presided, and at which an informal and not very therough inquisition was held concerning the recent cowardly and unprovoked assaults upon my life. At that meeting a steuographic reporter was chosen before I appeared, and you volunteered the assurance that his notes of what took pince should be transcribed and a written report furnished to me for correction and publication. Two weeks have since clapsed; a period unreasonably long it seems to me for the report to have been delayed. Three applications have been made for a part or the whole of it; one by myself, the others by Mr. John C. Young, of the Tribunc, but without result. In the meantime a rancorous, mendacious record of proceedings to which I reluctantly consented to become a party at your request, is circulated in other papers besides the Sait Lake Herold in which it originally appeared. In justice to myself lask that a copy of the steangraphic second may be furnismed, me at once. I should say here that Mr. Gibbs, the reporter, promised that his report would be ready within a week. I am. sir, you obedient seet that Mr. Gibbs, the measenger was insulted by the magnistrate, who few surrender testimony which, if accurately transcribed, will convict him and his myrmidons of attempting a futile trick upon an outraged stranger.

PROPOSING FURTHER DELAY.

He declined to answer, but during the day, after consultation had been had with Brigham Young and others He declined to answer, but during the day, after consultation had been had with Brighum Young and others of the hierarchy, he sent a note to your correspondent in which he renounces the principal obligation, and proposes a further delay. He engages that the stenographic report which had been completed and lying in his deak for days past, may be ready for publication next week. In the meantime he objects to surrender to the principal person interested any part of the report, except proof slips of his own statement. The testimouy of other winesses is to be manipulated as Brighum Young and his conveilors desire. This plan of the priethood, which is exposed in to-day's journais, is denounced as innamous. It is hardly likely, however, that it will succeed in suppressing the facts attested by witnesses who are ready to rome whelf to atthat there are old residents here who better this indiscreet Mayor and his police force were secured; to the assaults. They feel justified in this suspicion, not only because of the evident desire of Mayor Little to hish, up the affair and shield the criminal, but because such a course would be consonant with records of himself and his Mormon subordinates. The Mayor has been publicly charged with being concerned in a murder here.

A CHIME STAINED FOLLUM.

As for the police, two of them who is not openly accused, as principal or accessory in the same crime. A former United States Attorney here asserts, what is indeed notorious that Mormon officials of every grade are appointed here partly because of their willingness to carry out the doctrine of blood stonement when called upon. In fact but leve of the Mormon Church, or evid officials, are exampt from charges or asspicions that they have been concerned with crimes.
